Indian Independence Day, celebrated annually on August 15th, marks a significant milestone in the history of India's struggle for freedom from British colonial rule which they received on 15th August 1947

As a testament to this historic event, we at Little Scholars engaged in a cultural program to commemorate sacrifices made by our freedom fighters and to instill a sense of patriotism and unity among students.

The event began with a solemn flag hoisting ceremony, symbolizing the unfurling of India's tricolor flag by Principal Mrs. Shikha Gautam and Managing Director Col. Rohit Bhalla. This was followed by a small welcome by the head boy, head girl and all council members .

ARTICLE ON 'STRESS'

•There is a famous line "Stop the world, I want to get off!" This expression refers to a feeling of panic, or stress, that makes people want to stop whatever they are doing, try to relax, and become calm again. 'Stress' means pressure or tension. It is one of the most common causes of health problems in modern life. Too much stress results in physical, emotional, and mental health problems.

•There are numerous physical effects of stress. Stress can affect the heart. It can increase the pulse rate, make the heart miss beats, and can cause high blood pressure. Stress can affect the respiratory system as well leading to asthma. It can make a person breathe too fast, resulting in a loss of important carbon dioxide. Stress can affect the stomach. It can cause stomach ache and problems in digesting food. These are the examples of a wide range of illness and symptoms resulting from stress.

•So, reduce stress: stop the worries and rest for a while.

Poem- Life Goes On

We thought we would improve
one day,
With age, experience, will be brightened some, they say.
Those who never trusted even themselves,
I don't think, will barely recover
from grievances.
Well, the illusion of relations broke,
Is there gatherings, we won't be awoke.
Some the faults, which we cannot last,
Few moments of life will also remain the past.
Life is platform, everyone has their own characters in One who accepts his mistake, always win
All will forget our efforts with time,
The letters will vanish from pages
line by line.
In this fake world, everyone has to experience being alone,
But still! Its life, and life goes on.

ALIVE EYES

God, who made us one and taught us to be loved,
Then why today we all are breaking our bonds?
What is there that is separating us?
Is it the caste, creed, race or religion?
But why?
Prophet Muhammad, Jesus, Guru
Nanak, Sri Ram;
all are great, But I feel all are the same
They all reside in our souls
Not only in temples, But everywhere
you go.
I can't listen to the silence which yell,
Every single second has another story to tell.
My eyes just can't see this life,
As It hurts me after every while Whenever I see this cruelty,
the soul of mine breaks
and my poor heart cries,
I can't perceive mothers and wives, beaten anymore through these eyes
Mothers, who give birth to kings, Then why these kings don't want any princess from their wives?
Every time I see this brutality in humanity, A question arises in my mind,
"Will our eyes before shedding be able to open & see the kind fantasies
of life?
Leaving all the conflicts behind"
Then I'll wish to keep my eyes always alive.

Not Perfect (Perfectly)

To many, perfection seems to be a beautiful word. Growing up as a teenager girl makes me a lot frustrated whenever I hear this word "perfect". Why perfect? Nobody has ever seen a perfect human because we all are unique and an expert in a particular field just like a group of 5-7 students where leader only guides as he only knows to assign the work while on the other hand, members work on their field or assigned work because they know how to do that work. Simple... isn't it?

Perfection means 'In a state of being without faults' but how is this possible? As humans we all make lot of mistakes every day. Committing mistakes help us improve upon and discover new ideas. After all perfection is a myth and the enemy of productivity because it's all about the unrealistic standards which don't even exist. The effects of wanting to be perfect can get worse with time. You will judge yourself on the beauty standards cause everyone else is doing the same but they say, Beauty doesn't exist, it's just one's opinion and perspective. We can depend on one small thing or might freak out without it, for example makeup, earrings, lip-tints, etc. but are these even necessary? Yes, obviously because how blindly we are following the race for being beautiful, getting noticed, getting attention which is quite common among teenagers. I want to ask a question, Isn't it perfectly fine not to be perfect? Or be imperfect for someone as long as you love yourself?

We all live in this judgmental society where every now and then we get comments on very small & trivial things. Let's say someone shared his opinion on one's clothes so now the person will become conscious and expect some more comments regarding his/her clothes. Isn't it funny how a single compliment can change our whole day. Acceptance is the key to achieve everything in this universe, why change if God himself has created all of us with so much imperfections. Why to be insecure when nobody is perfect?

At last I would proudly like to say that "I am not perfect and it's perfectly fine. Right?"
